TUG OWNERS PROTEST.

Ask Relief from Ship Purchase Bill.

A fleet of tug boat owners from New York appeared before the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Commerce yesterday to protest against the language of the ship purchase bill. Those interests say they are not common carriers, that there is no agreement among them to fix rates and there can be no standardization of rates in the very nature of the business. They ask to be relieved from the operations of the act so far as it seeks to regulate charges for lighterage, towing and other service.

The delegation was composed of Eugene F. Moran, president of the National Board of Steam Navigation and owner of the Moran Towing Company; A. L. Squiers, counsel for many interests, including the Maritime Association and the National Board of Transportation; Fred B. Datzell, vice president of the New York Boat Owners' Association; Joseph J. Glatzmeyer, manager of the Merritt Chamman Company; William E. Cleary, a director of the New York Board of Trade and a tug owner, and Capt. Jacob Rickert, president of the Rickert Towing Company.

BUSINESS HIGH GETS DIPLOMAS

Dr. Clarence J. Owens Addresses Graduating Class on National Preparedness.

Preparedness from an educational point of view was discussed in an address last night at the Business High School commencement by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, managing director of the Southern Commercial Congress.

The competitors for the Galt prizes were announced as Miss Ruth May, F. L. Tucker, and Miss Florence Tucker, alternate, for the prize in commercial geography; and Miss Edith L. Elliott, Miss Estelle La Milne and Henry M. Terry, alternate, for the prize in commercial history and sociology.

Roscoe B. Willis, Jr., was awarded the scholastic prize by Syracuse University. Blanche A. Rauchenstein was presented with a scholarship in the Washington College of Law.

The Georgetown University Law School scholarship was presented to Samuel E. Moore, and William Masu was awarded the scholarship in the National University Law School.

Henry P. Blair, president of the Board of Education, presided and Ernest L. Thurston, superintendent of schools, gave out the diplomas to the graduates. The Business High School Orchestra rendered selections.

The graduates were: Charles E. Anadale, Arthur D. Bailey, Kenneth H. Berkeley, Louis H. Biron, Alice E. S. Boyd, Allen B. Carpenter, Edmund S. Chamberlain, Alvin H. Cross, Mary P. TALES OF "THE TRADE"

(Copyright, 1916, by Rudyard Kipling.)

BY RUDYARD KIPLING.

International News Service.

Some work in the Baltic. The trade. They bear, in place of classic names, Latin and Greek titles. They play their grimy, blindfold games in little boxes made of tin. With the Zepplin. Sometimes they learn where mines are laid. Or where the Baltic ice is thin. That is the custom of "The Trade."

Few prize courts sit upon their claims. They seldom lose their targets in. They follow certain secret aims. Down under, far from strife or din. When they are ready to begin. No flag is flown, no flag is made. More than the shroud of a pin. That is the custom of "The Trade."

The south's quadruple funnel flame. A mark from Sweden to the swim. The cruiser's thunderous screw propellers. Her engines roar, but only when up. But only whiffs of paraffin. Or creamy rings that stir and fade. Show where the on-board Death has been. That is the custom of "The Trade."

Their facts, their fortunes and their times. Are hidden from the world in. No eager public backs or blames. No journal prints the jabs they spit. The owner would not let it in. When they return from sea or land unharmed they work; unseen they win. That is the custom of "The Trade."

London, June 20.—No one knows how the title, "The Trade," came to be applied to the submarine service. Some say the Cruisers invented it because they pretend the submarine officers look like unwashed chauffeurs. Others think that it sprang forth by itself, which means that it was coined on the lower deck, where they always have proper names for things. Whatever the truth, the submarine service is now "the trade," and if you ask them why they will answer: "What else could you call it?"

The Coming Baby! Hooray! Hooray!

Nothing else can so completely endear us to the present and the future as the expected arrival of a baby. But in the meantime the comfort of the mother is of vast importance. There is a splendid external remedy known as "Mother's Friend" which relieves the mother of all the pains, aches and twinges which attend the period of pregnancy. It is a wonderful inducement upon the expanding muscles. They become more pliant, stretch without undue pain, make the period of pleasant anticipation instead of apprehension. In a series of splendid letters from all over the country mothers tell of the great help "Mother's Friend" was to them. Even grandmothers tell the wonderful story to their own daughters about to enter the state of motherhood. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today of your nearest druggist. It should be remembered that this splendid remedy is for external use only. Great care should always be exercised in using medicine for internal use. And it may be safely said that by the daily application of "Mother's Friend" there will be such ease and comfort as to rid the mind of the notion that internal medicine is necessary during this momentous period of expectancy. "Mother's Friend" is recommended by a host of friends who are guided by their own mind. For a free book of interest and importance to all mothers write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 109 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It relates the personal experiences of many happy mothers, and many things that all women should be familiar with; it is at once a guide and an inspiration. Write for this book.

500,000 Volunteers May Be Called for Border Service

and District of Columbia National Guard organizations were nearest complete mobilization.

It is not expected that any militia regiments will be ready to entrain within forty-eight hours, but chiefs of the division of militia affairs said that if Gen. Funston urges their immediate dispatch, they will be sent to the border at once, without waiting for full mobilization and recruiting.

OFFICIALS PREPARED FOR WAR.

Advisers from Mexico City that Carranza has reiterated his threat to attack Pershing's forces and that Foreign Minister Aguilar, in the face of the American war note's flat rejection of the demand to evacuate from Mexico, has repeated his demand for withdrawal, prepared officials for war with Carranza.

The American note, the sharpest diplomatic communication ever exchanged between the United States and a foreign power, will reach Mexico City today.

Reports from Gen. Funston yesterday prepared the War Department for Carranza's probable plan of campaign in forcing hostilities on the United States in such manner as to make it appear that the United States is the aggressor.

Gen. Funston reported he had received definite information that one of the supposed bandit forces which attacked the advance guard of Pershing's army when it was returning to the field base was in reality composed of Carranza troops. There is information that the attack on Maj. Grey's punitive expedition in the Matamoros district last week was made by Carranza soldiers and not by bandits.

GUERRILLA WARFARE EXPECTED.

War College strategists who have followed the Mexican campaign from the first and who have been making plans of campaign in event of intervention are convinced Carranza will continue these tactics.

Carranza's forces, after learning of the American note, are expected to begin guerilla warfare on Gen. Pershing's army, supplemented by incursions across the border that inevitably will force a defensive attack by the American army, which will precipitate war.

All preparations at the War Department yesterday were in line with plans for a general invasion of Mexico. Gen. Funston was given authority to purchase 50,000 horses and mules. The quartermaster's department prepared to place orders for supplies of all character for subsistence of the army in Mexico or along the border.

SOME TALK OF MEDIATION.

Reports were in circulation yesterday that efforts may be made by Latin-American governments to bring about mediation of the differences between the United States and Mexico. Latin-American diplomats from the first have deprecated the presence of American troops in Mexico.

Officials declared last night there are only two alternatives for Carranza. Either he will submit tamely to the threats of physical force contained in Secretary Lansing's note or he will call on all Mexicans to make war on the United States.

In the first event the Federal army now in Mexico or along the border, supplemented by the 100,000 or more National Guard troops to go there, will be sufficient to carry out any further waiting and watching policy.

In the second event, officials have decided, it will require probably a half million more men to face the situation in Mexico. Reports from Gen. Pershing stated that Mexican people within the sphere of influence of the American army are opposed to Carranza. This condition does not obtain, it was admitted, in territory really controlled by Carranza.

GUARDSMEN TO LEAVE FOR CAMP AT RADIO

lowed, in turn, by the members of the Signal Corps, Batteries A and B of the Field Artillery, Troop A of the cavalry, and the field hospital corps, in the order named. These will form at their army camp, on First street northwest, near B street.

The men will eat their first "war meal" tonight. They will be expected to provide their own luncheons. Over in Virginia, however, each company commander will be given one hundred rations. These will be used for supper. Tomorrow, each company will receive five days' rations additional. Before these are consumed, the men hope to be on their way to the border.

Not all the men who march into Virginia tomorrow afternoon will reach Camp Radio. Some will be turned back for the entire militia must first go to Fort Myer for a final examination by a special detail from the United States Medical Corps. Those failing to measure up to the requirements will be given honorable discharges. The others will be formally mustered into the Federal service. Then they will make camp.

Camp Is Laid Out. The camp has been laid out into sections and streets. One company will be assigned to each section. Sixteen men will sleep in each tent. The commissioned officers will have individual tents.

Hundreds of rakes, hoes, picks and axes were carted out to the camp yesterday. The men will familiarize themselves with the use of these implements, keeping the camp spotlessly clean.

Most of the men were bitterly disappointed at their failure to make camp, as originally planned, yesterday afternoon. They had expected to start marching at 1 o'clock. Every trooper was ready fully an hour before that time. They assembled in their armories, were given their weapons and personal kits and were inspected by Gen. Harvey, who afterwards declared them to be in splendid shape.

The same could not be said of the Radio Camp. Despite the fact that men worked almost all night, the thousands of feet of piping brought up from Colonial Beach by the Sylvia on Monday, was not laid. There were neither sufficient bathing facilities nor an adequate supply of drinking water. Consequently Gen. Harvey decided to postpone the making of camp for twenty-four hours.

Will Take No Chances. "I thought it best to take no chances," he explained. "If the men had gone out, as originally planned, a lot of them instead of going to the border, would have gone to the hospital. We're not going to have any repetition of Camp Alger."

Only about 2,000 men will march into camp tomorrow, Gen. Harvey announced last night. About 300 new white recruits and about 250 colored recruits will be sent to the camp during the day via the street cars. Some of these will carry rifles, but practically all will be in civilian clothes. The supply of uniforms, kits and other accoutrements at the various armories were exhausted within twenty-four hours after the President's call. But there are ample supplies in the quartermaster's department at Fort Myer, and the new recruits will be outfitted there tomorrow.

One matter worrying the militia heads today is shoes. Every man is supposed to start out with one pair in perfect condition on his feet and another pair, new, in his kit. Not only is there a woful shortage of extra pairs, but some of the shoes which the Guardsmen will wear have already seen considerable service. Gen. Harvey is optimistic, however. He thinks the quartermaster's department will be able to remedy matters before the orders to entrain are issued.

May Exceed Full Strength.

If all the men, including new recruits, pass the physical examination at Fort Myer today, the militia will be beyond its minimum strength. Only 2,300 men are necessary to insure service, and counting in during the last two days, the militia is more than 100 above that number. Recruiting will be continued until orders come to leave for the border in order, if possible, to reach the maximum strength of 30,000 men. Gen. Harvey declared last night that the rate of enlistment here, since the announcement of the President's call has been almost rapid enough to set a record.

Even should enlistments drop to nothing, half the men now in the militia would be rejected for physical disability, however, there is no chance but that the local forces will see service. Gen. Harvey, delving down into the statistics, dug up a law making every male resident of 18 and over liable for draft. If necessary, a list will be secured from the District Building, and men drafted until the required strength is reached. Such a course, however, is admittedly highly improbable.

Would Be Difficult Job.

At best it could only be pursued with the utmost difficulty. Although the law referred to was passed twenty-seven years ago, no list of citizens that might be used in such contingency has ever been made. Neither is there any appropriation available for its making.

Previous to the announcement that the marching into camp had been postponed until today, all the armories were crowded with men waiting for their orders. Mothers still trying to get their sons excused. More, however, were young women—wives and sweethearts—gathered to bid some particular khaki-clad boy good-bye, and to be with him up to the last possible minute.

All sorts of little gifts and remembrances were pressed on the militiamen. There were folding drinking cups galore. One girl presented a youth with a shaverting outfit, to his blushing embarrassment. For, judging by his appearance, he was just barely over the minimum age limit of 18. But the girl said he "might need it before he got back." The boy said he "didn't think so."

Thus far, there have been very few tears at the armories. Tears, no doubt, have been shed, and in plenty over prospective departures by many a wife and mother. But they have been shed secretly. At the armories, and to the general public, these same wives and mothers have presented faces all smiles. And the men themselves are still more cheerful. Every man jacks of them is on his toes. They all declare the order sending them to the border can't come quickly enough.

GERMAN BANKER HELD.

Federal Authorities Making Investigation of His Acts.

El Paso, Texas, June 20.—Frederick Griese, a prominent Mexican City banker, and a German, was arrested secretly last night upon his arrival from Mexico City, and is being held pending investigation by federal authorities. The investigation is said to connect Griese with violation of neutrality acts in behalf of the German Empire, the details of which are withheld. He was en route to San Antonio, Texas, when arrested.

FUNSTON READY FOR MILITIAMEN

Regiments Will Be Scattered Along Border from Brownsville to California.

(By the Sun News Service). San Antonio, Tex., June 20.—No time will be lost in getting to the border Militia troops called by President Wilson on Sunday. Gen. Funston announced today he had recommended to the War Department that a "considerable" number be sent to the Southwest with a concentrating and distributing point at San Antonio. As the troops report in this department they will be sent by regiments and brigades—three regiments to border points ranging from Brownsville to California.

So rapidly are the troops of some States mobilizing that it is considered probable a few brigades will entrain Thursday for the journey for Texas.

The troops arriving here for further orders will be encamped on the mounted drill field north of Fort Sam Houston at Camp Wilson. It is considered likely the camp will be far larger than that of 1911, when President Taft ordered most of the army to assemble here. As the men are needed elsewhere they will be sent on to the border. By this process it is probable a large percentage of the National Guard force of the United States will be in San Antonio for a short time.

San Antonio was named as the chief concentrating point because of railway facilities and the capacity and convenience of the local army post. The bringing of troops here, after the great movement is under way and the most dangerous gaps along the border have been filled, will tend to prevent congestion of the lines of railways between here and the many river points. If regiments, brigades and divisions were poured at once into the very front of the patrol line, the roads south of here scarcely would have room for the cars, it is declared.

The Mexican bandits who crossed the Rio Grande last Thursday morning were equipped to blow up bridges or to engage in a hand-to-hand fight with bombs. In a report to Gen. Funston, Brig. Gen. William A. Mann has just given the information that the Americans captured from the Mexican forty-five pounds of dynamite and thirty-two bombs.
